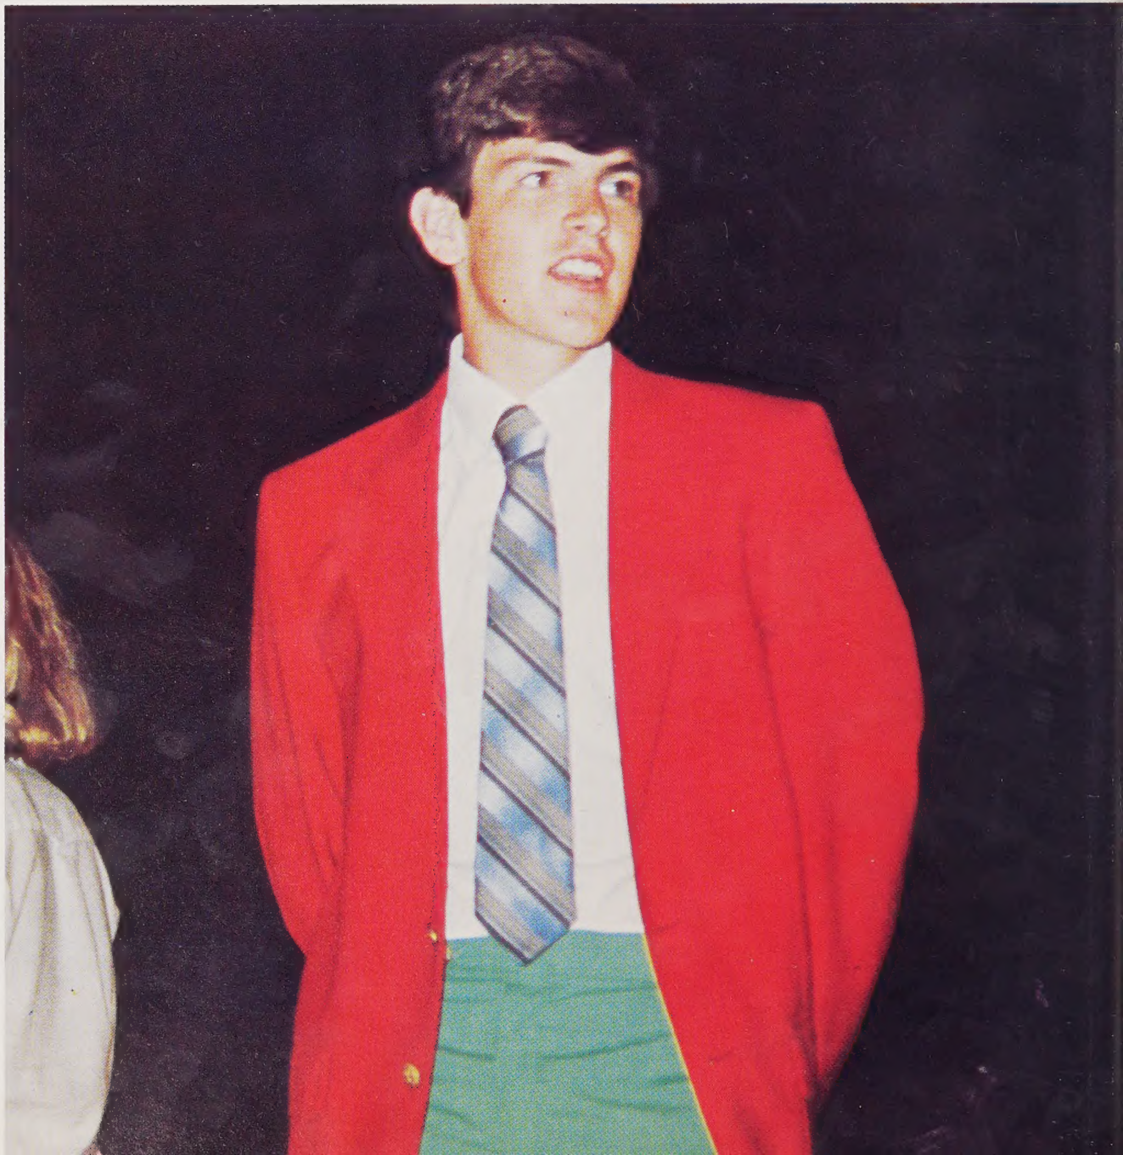
H.H.S... it all adds up

Jeff Shealy doesn't seem to mind the companionship of Affie Hackler and Tina Edgerton.

Without Mr. Wilson our school wouldn't be what it is. He is not only a leader but a friend as well.

Furman McDonald portrays Mr. Wilson during a drama presentation.

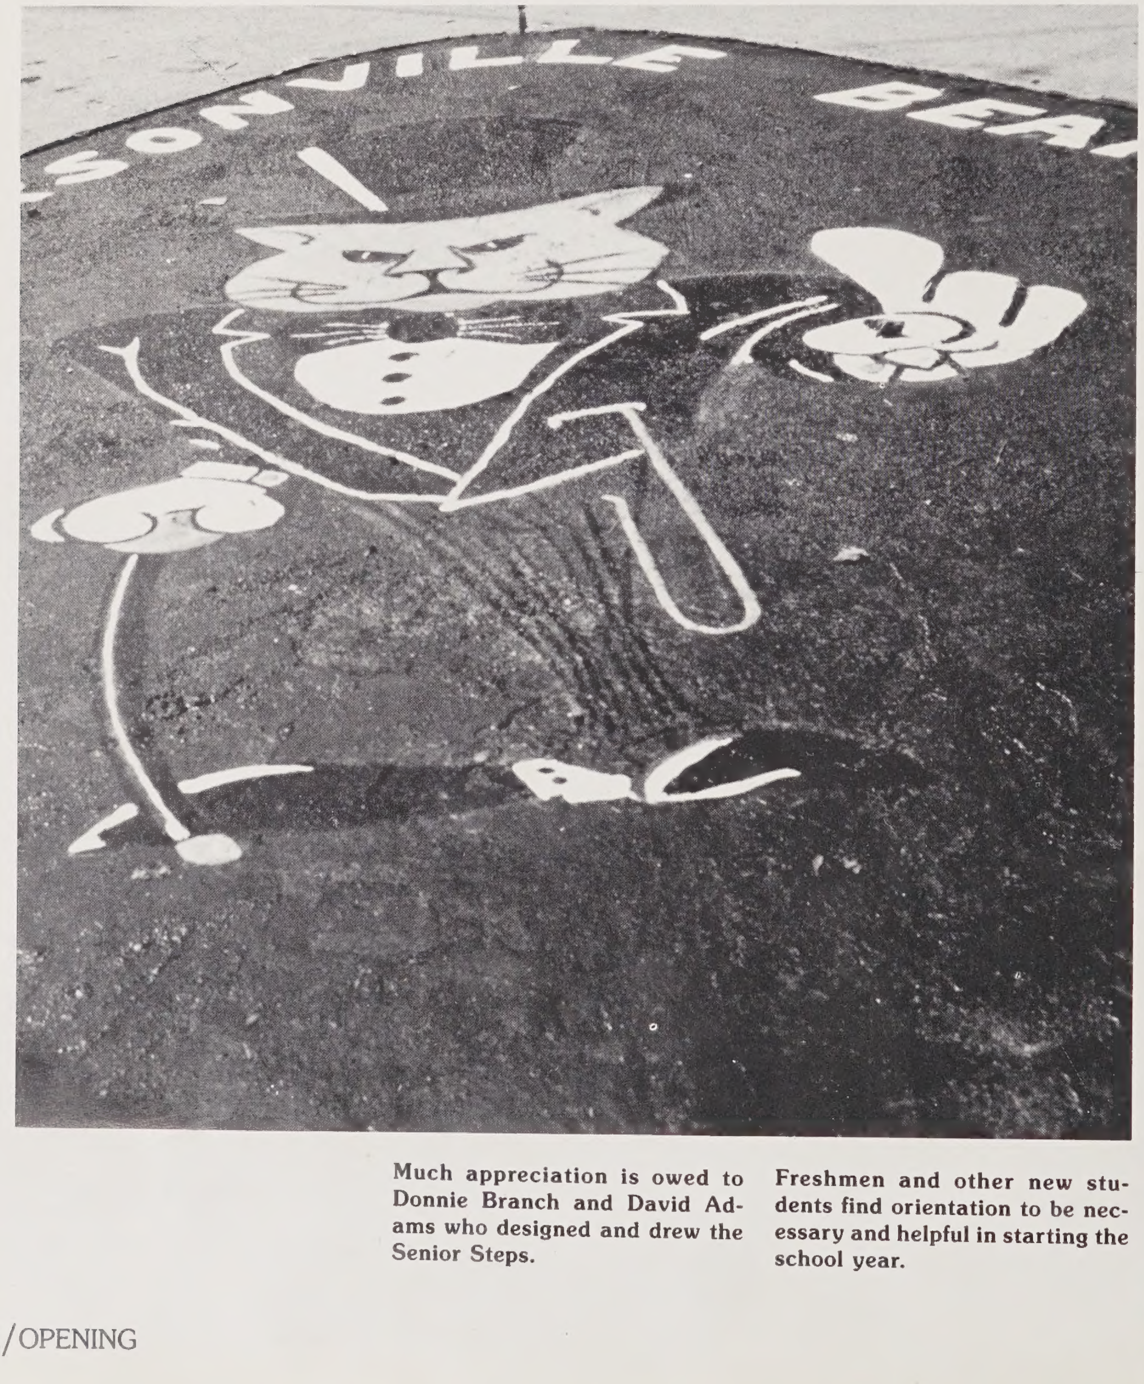


HENDERSONVIL
HHS

A collection of paraphernalia from HHS shows that students excel in all areas of school life.

Getting Started

WE took our worst moments and made them the best. WE took our best moments and made them last. IN a school where excellence was expected; excellence was attained.



Much appreciation is owed to Donnie Branch and David Adams who designed and drew the Senior Steps.

Freshmen and other new students find orientation to be necessary and helpful in starting the school year.

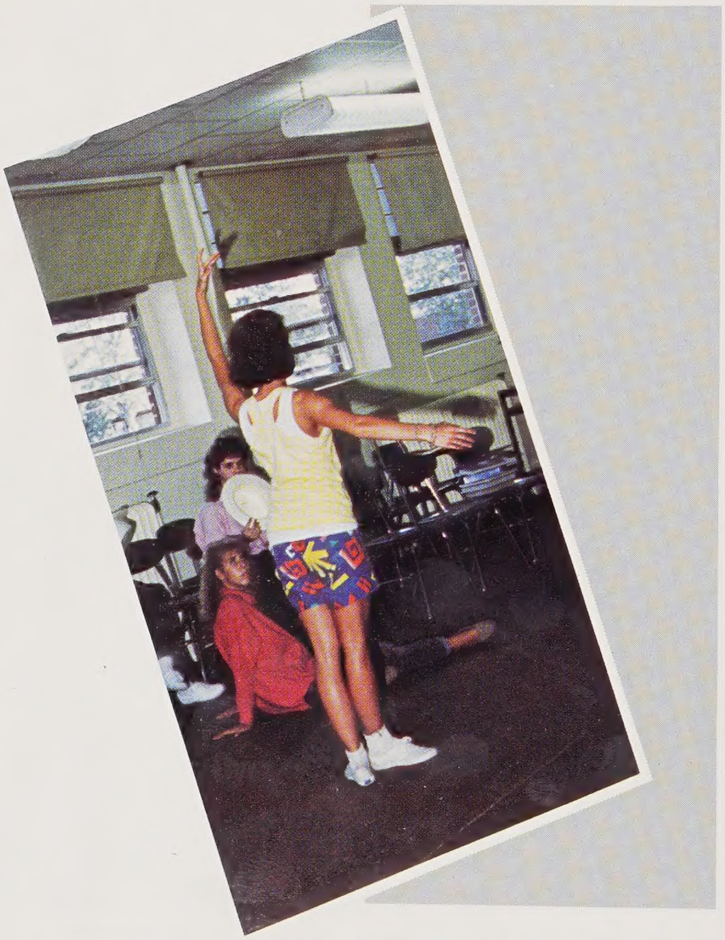
On the first day of school the seniors waited anxiously for the opening assembly to begin.

Jennifer Bonham leads the student body in singing the alma mater at an opening assembly.

Joan Murray discovers that starting another school year meant an end to relaxing summer days.

The Arts

Students involved in the fine arts at Hendersonville High School were often recruited to participate in the many extra programs and projects which needed to be done. From playing in the band at football games to organizing an assembly run by the Drama Department, these students were essential in promoting school spirit. With hard work and special talents their function was not only to entertain but to strive for perfection.



Joan Murray shows her unique dancing ability which comes from years of dedicated practice.

Mr. Orr expresses himself by dancing in drama class.

Kelly Dotson participates in the dance performed by the drama class.

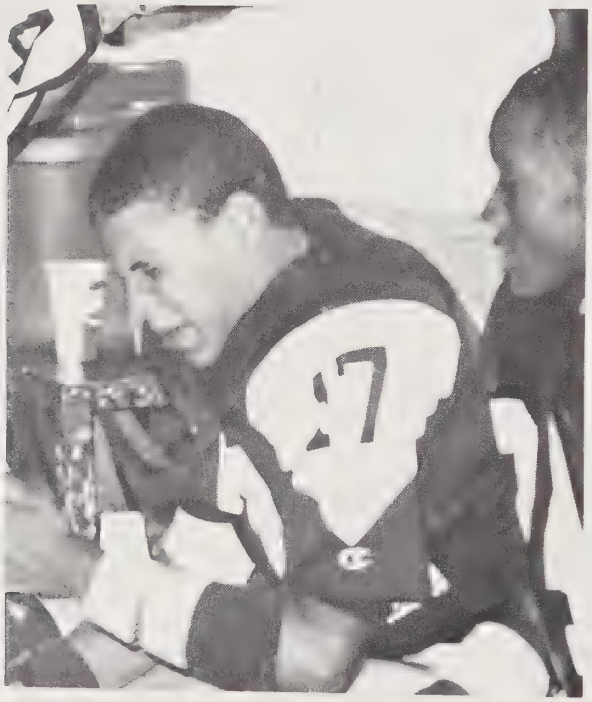
The chorus once again entertains the student body with a unique performance.

Through many practice sessions, the symphonic band works to maintain a "superior" playing ability.

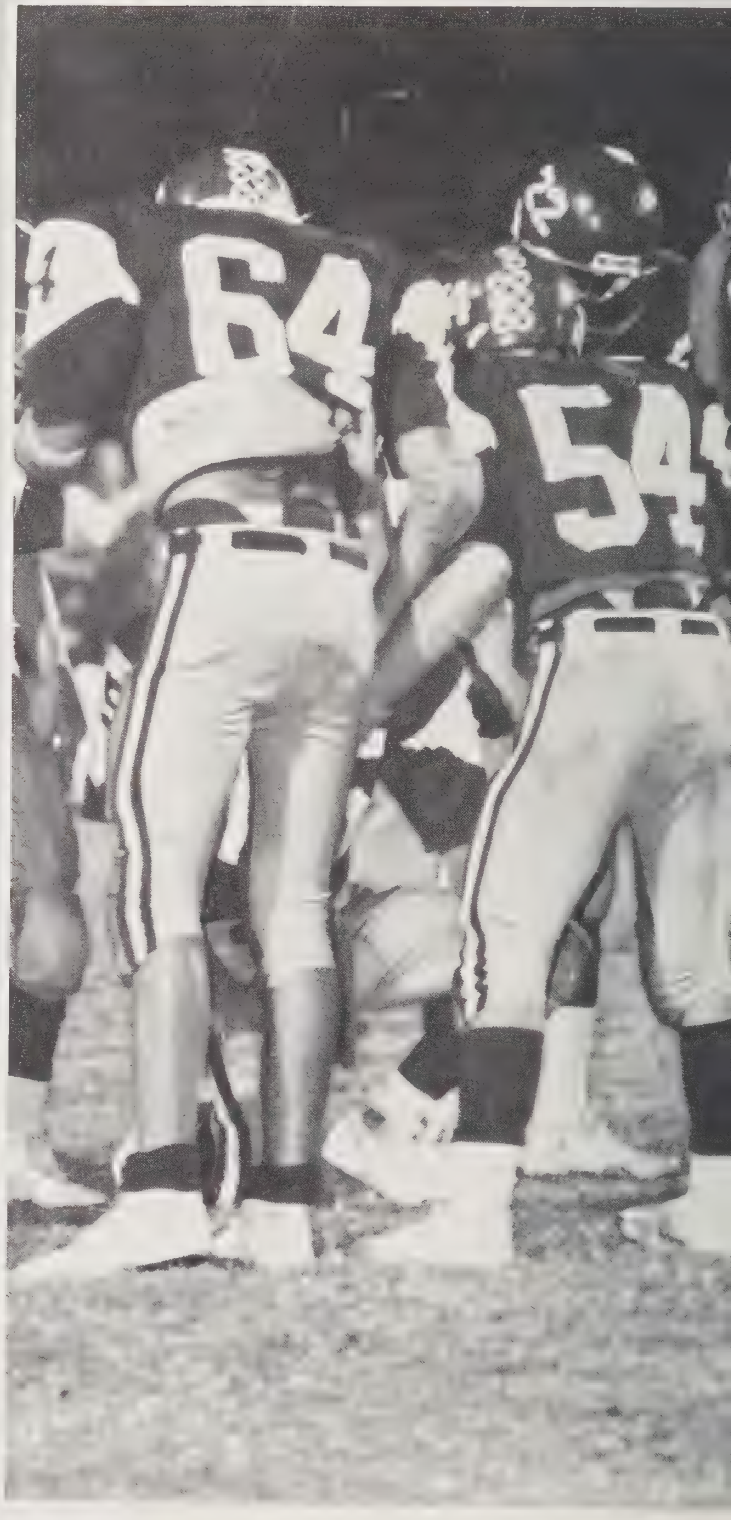
Andrew Rogelberg accompanies the chorus while displaying his extraordinary piano-playing ability.

In Training

Once again, athletics at Hendersonville High School were ranked with the best the state had to offer. But our athletes realized that only through hard work and determination could victory be attained. With pride in themselves and in their school, Bearcats went through many hours of practice for that final moment of achievement when they knew they were the best they could be.



Hoyt Bynum shows that there is truth in saying "No pain, no gain" as he pays the price of being a Bearcat athlete.



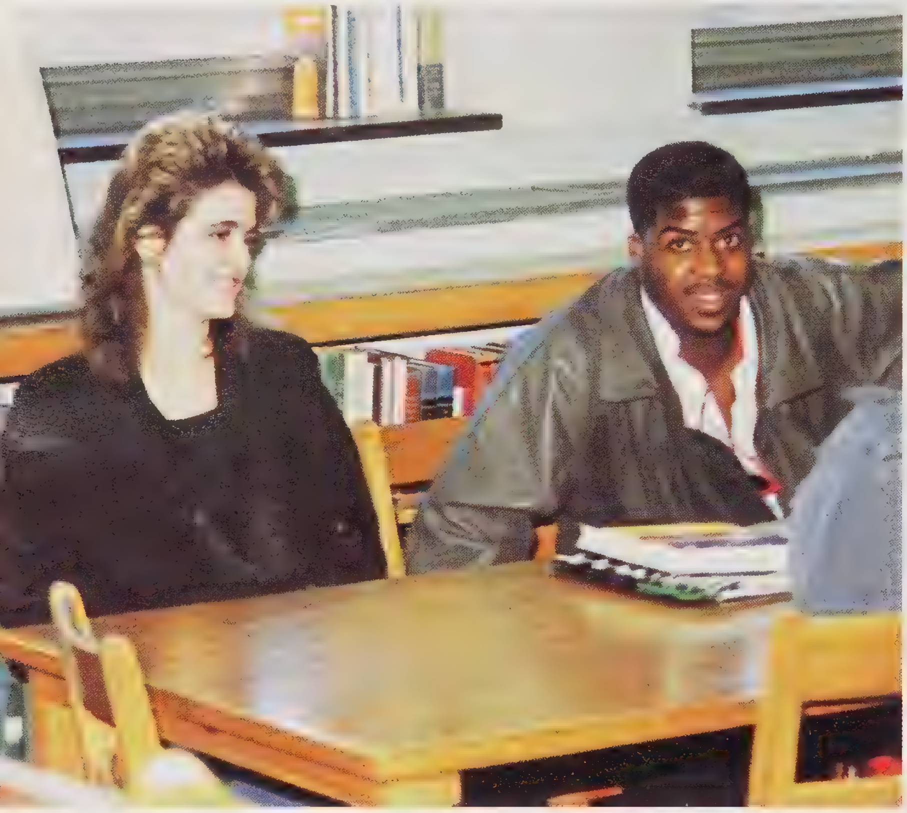
Paige Bristow strikes another winning pose as she competes in a tennis match.

The soccer team led by seniors Jerry Krug, John Bowman, and Furman "The Furm" McDonald had a winning season this year.

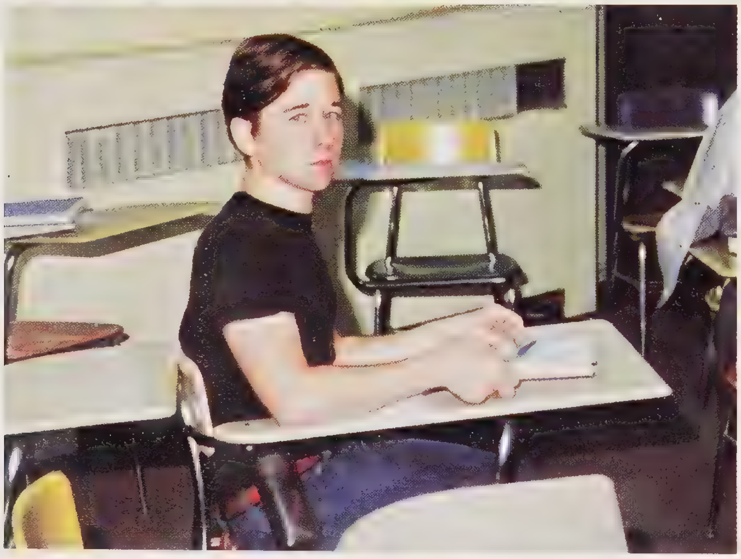
The football team, a major part of our "winning tradition," is seen in a spirited huddle.

The basketball team spent many long, hard hours practicing to be the best possible.

Kristen Gill and Stanley Rudisill find library science to be one of the more exciting courses of the day.



Rodney Young is serious about his industrial arts skills while Warren Haywood just likes to clown around.



Glenn Stepp looks slightly perplexed over the fundamentals of world history.

April Williams, with her ever-present, pleasant smile, hurries to her next class.

Thinking

Students throughout Hendersonville High School knew that to "make the grade" a lot of hard work and study were required. Students with book bags packed full could be seen exiting the school with agonized expressions on their faces as they tallied the hours of thought ahead.

Jef Fox contemplates his locker combination between classes.

Julie Riveron gathers her books and seems to be relieved that another day of typing is over.

The Key Club presents a group of "Bad Dudes," whose main objective is to serve the school and community.

The Keywanettes perform their rendition of "You Lost That Loving Feeling."

Serving

For those students who wanted something more than what the norms of everyday school life had to offer, there were many clubs available. Because of a wide range of interests shown by students, a great variety of activities existed at HHS.

Marc Dawes gives Elliot Lewis, Karen Lewis, and Amy Dewey a skiing lesson for the Ski Club skit.

The Red and White staff presents a group of "Inquiring Minds" to promote the school newspaper.

Carolyn Cullen finds that hard practice in drama leads to a satisfying performance.

It All Adds Up

Hendersonville High School maintains excellence in all aspects of education. It is a school that has a winning tradition in academics, arts, athletics, and organizations. With all these aspects of school life it is clear to see that . . . IT ALL ADDS UP

Jonathan Twitty and John Gash try to suppress their enthusiasm during an assembly.

Senior class president, Sydney Brown, is a familiar smiling face around campus.

Brad Jones and Marc Dawes, escorts in the homecoming court, look as if they're all dressed up with no place to go.

These seniors seem to have established their territory on the second floor hall.

Wheels in Motion

Pictures on fake rocks, initiating freshmen, painting steps, studying, off-campus lunch, proms, picnics, plays, and beach trips — they all added up to being a senior.

John Bowman said that the thing he enjoyed the most about being a senior was, "It's the last year, and now I can go on to college." Julie Riveron said she enjoyed, "Getting to march into assemblies. It was really neat."

This year's senior class never showed a lack of initiative or spirit. The senior steps were finished before the beginning of school, and newly elected officers got the wheels in motion for more senior class involvement and off-campus lunch. Senior class president Sydney Brown said, "I'm really proud of this class. They've shown a lot of spirit throughout the year. I feel that this has been one of the best senior classes ever."

The school year of 1986-87 soon came to a close for the seniors. Each reached for his own future. The year ended on that special night — graduation. "The thing I'll miss the most about high school will be the good and bad times that gave me a secure feeling while I was in school," said Leslie Hendricks.

Cindy Ellis captures another victim with her lethal weapon, a McDonald's bib, on Freshman Initiation Day.

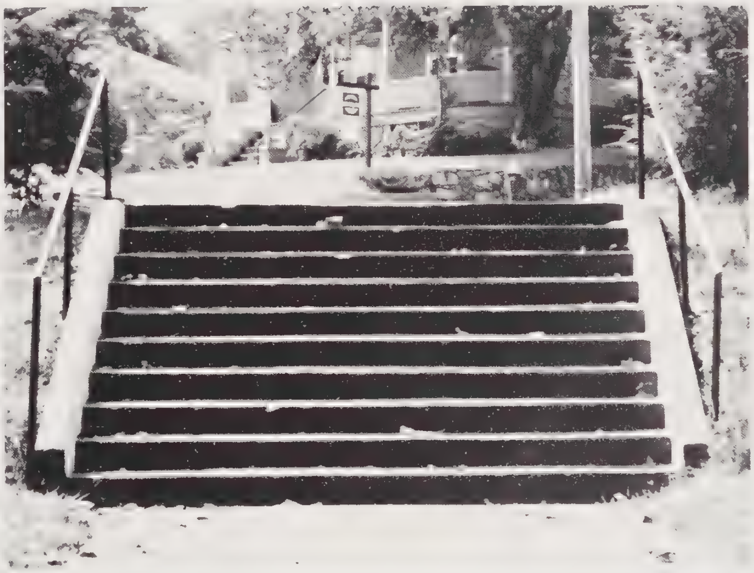
Members of the "Senior Sundial Club" seem to be amused by something in the distance. Could it be a freshman?

Does Mike Schnyder's face reveal agony or ecstasy as Jennifer Bonham playfully tickles his foot?

ob Young writes the answers as ouston Haynes ponders the uestions of life.



The Senior Class carries on the tradition of painting the senior steps by having their graduation year on the front.

Dare to Be Different

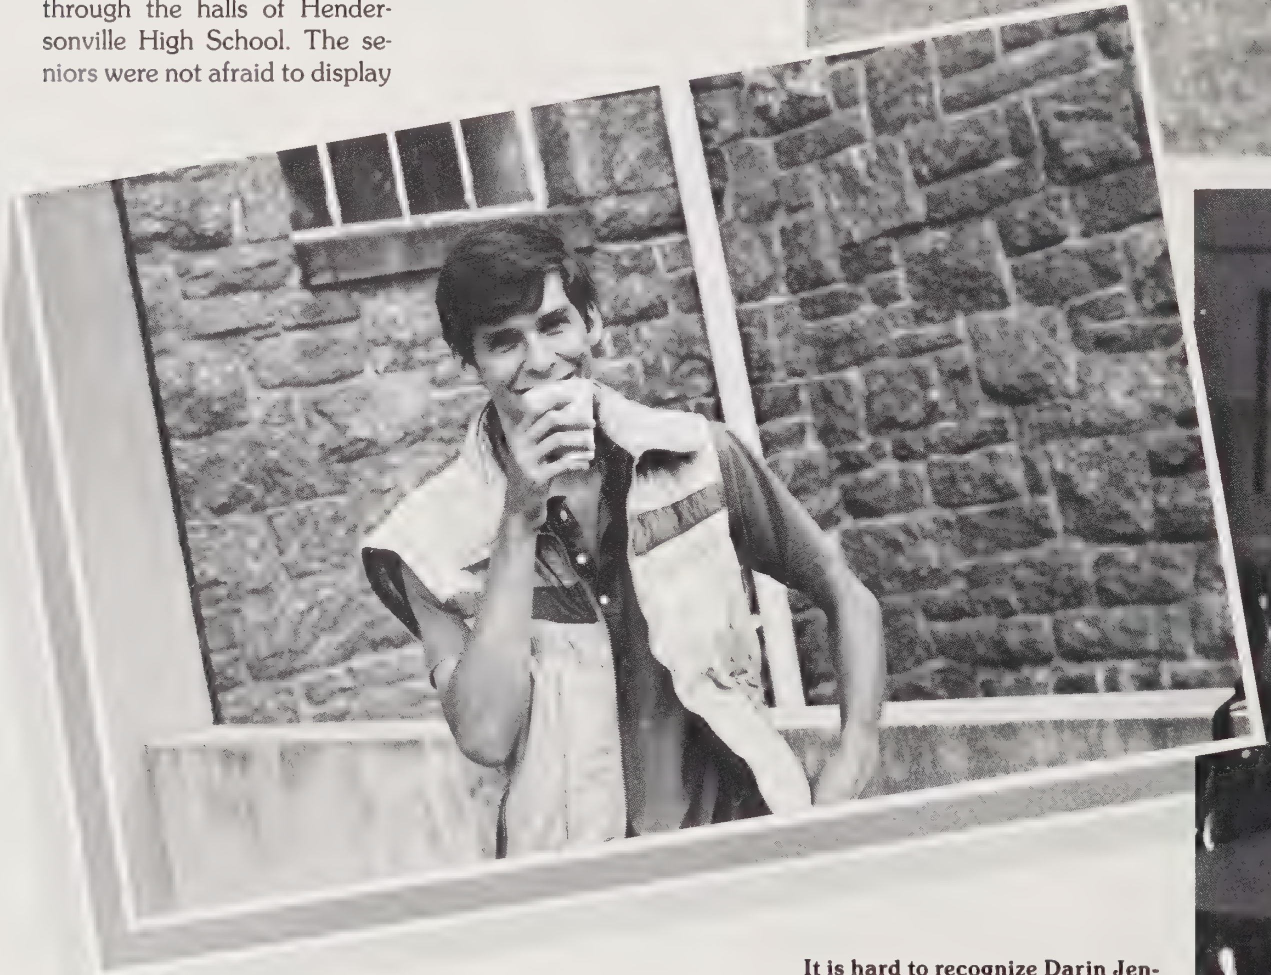
By the time a student becomes a senior, he or she has learned that being oneself is the best person to be. The senior class had many people who were true examples of individuality. An individual is one who is distinct, separate, and is not afraid to show his true colors, even when they may be fuchsia and chartreuse.

Individuality can be expressed in many different ways. It can be shown through leadership, spirit, and/or character. A leader is one who breaks away from the group and takes on the responsibility of guiding the group. Every member of the senior class served as a leader. They led the school indirectly through thoughts, words, and actions.

Individualism was evident in the display of spirit. The Class of 1987 was one of the most spirited classes ever to pass through the halls of Hendersonville High School. The seniors were not afraid to display their Bearcat enthusiasm in the stands or on the field. The seniors were eager to let their true spirit show in everything they did.

The senior class was one of character; it showed a "Touch of Class" at all times. It takes great amounts of individualism to display character constantly. A person with character is distinguished. The seniors were certainly distinguishable from other students at HHS; they were true individuals.

Leadership, spirit, character . . . they all add up to individuality. Many distinct individuals, students constantly striving to be themselves, made up the senior class. Individualism is a special quality that only time can enhance. After four years at HHS, the members of the Class of '87 had become true individuals.



It is hard to recognize Darin Jennings when he is without his formal dress and crown.

Stanley Bayse gives the photographer a brief glimpse of his serious side.

Is that Don Johnson? No, it's HHS's own Jim Knoble showing off his carefree, relaxed style.

Joan Murray shows her s-sensuality as she gets "into" decorating the cafeteria.

Andrea Johnson gives her time and energy to the senior class by helping scrape the senior steps.

Here At Last

The Class of 1988 at last arrived at the lofty status of "upperclassmen." Yet with advancement came responsibility, and of responsibility these HHS juniors had their portion. Study occupied a major amount of their time. English class was marked by endless lines of Shakespeare's poetry and prose, the infamous Beowulf, and, of course, the junior's first experience with a term paper.

The event that probably took presidence over all others for the junior was the spring prom. These juniors definitely contributed their fair share to the preparation and promotion involved in making the 1987 prom a success.

Stuart Rohrbaugh takes many risks for the junior class; falling is just one of them.

Ashley Summerow seems to be distracted.

Call of Duty

Having completed three years of high school life, the hardened veterans of HHS had a right to feel proud of their accomplishments. Mastering rigorous classroom schedules, participating in all school activities, and going above and beyond the call of duty in service and spirit, the Junior Class made a definite impression upon HHS as a whole. The Class of 1988 struggled; it endured; and now the best is yet to come.

In Midstream

Members of the Class of 1989, crossing the half way point on their trek to graduation, became an active part of the spirit of HHS. Sufficiently experienced in high school life to feel that they were ready to discard the stigma attached to their being "underclassmen," they were seen wholeheartedly participating in almost every aspect of campus activity, including sports, cheerleading, clubs, and social events.

For the first time, these sophomores had a chance to really take some elective classes. By now they had given quite a bit of thought to choosing a career and/or cultivating interests, and their class schedules reflected this attitude.

After having successfully survived their freshman year, these students were a proud part of the Bearcat family. No longer were they seen wandering in the hallways trying to find their way from their locker to their classroom, but they became accustomed to the high school routine and adjusted well.

"Call Me Ishmael"

"Call me Ishmael." These words strike horror in the hearts of many sophomore English students. Through long hours of thoughtful study, the members of the Class of 1989 struggled to enrich their lives.

Encouraged by the example of their leaders Tim Gore, Mack Broutin, Drew Adams, and Amy Worthen, the sophomores were able to find time to show their spirit through service to the school and support of all activities.

A Ghost Named Bob

Through thoughtful speeches and helpful tours the freshmen were acquainted with the ways of HHS. Experienced guides led wide-eyed newcomers down hallowed halls haunted by the fabled school spirit.

Following orientation, freshmen learned the meaning of a very important word — humility. Initiation gave the newest members of the Bearcat family a chance to experience the courses of many seniors as they dutifully carried the books of the upperclassmen to their classes. Many found initiation to be a great learning experience, providing an excellent opportunity to discover first hand how far a chestnut can actually be propelled with one's nose. Still others obtained new perspectives as they sang various verses from atop the sundial.

After coming to the shocking realization that there was no pool on the fourth floor, freshmen accepted the fact that there was nothing to be done but to familiarize themselves with the schedules, customs and eccentricities of HHS, and to endure (possibly, to enjoy) their first year of high school with the hope of becoming upperclassmen.

Freshmen

The Class of 1990 showed that they could make important contributions to the campus life of HHS by participating in the magazine sales, Honor Society can drive, and various service projects. While coping with the pressures of high school studies, this year's freshmen class made its presence known by good representation in all school activities.

All things considered, the class destinated to usher in the new decade had a promising beginning.

Challenging Monday Morning

The complaints of students rang throughout the halls. No one liked Mondays, and for teachers it was just as bad. Besides the fact that the weekend they set aside for rest was taken up grading papers and making lessons, there were the students with which they had to deal. The basic result of weekends for most students was low attention spans on Mondays. To keep these brains on task, some teachers made silly faces or loud gestures, so not only did teachers have to teach, but they also had to be creative. Teaching obviously is more complicated than people thought. Monday must not be all too bad, because the teachers keep coming back.

Six students from HHS in the summer of '86 were chosen to attend North Carolina Governor's School. Each student spent six weeks of hard work and fun in an area where they excelled. Whitney Brown, Susan Phillippe, and Dale Salvaggio practiced and performed with some of the state's best dancers. Elizabeth Delwiche and Tracy Lawson got a chance to show off their academic capabilities. Elizabeth went to study all aspects of English and Tracy summed her way through math. Jennifer McKay acted out many scenes in several famous plays, in the area of drama. Spending that much time away from family and friends was rough, but none of these special students would pass up an experience like Governor's School again.

Making Choices

The students here at HHS are known for their academic standards. They did not achieve these goals without hours of studying and preparation. With a full load of seven classes a day, most students were glad for the weekend. As the student progressed through school, the classes he took became more involved and more suited to one's interests. As a freshman, most classes were required and a student had less choice of what type classes to take. In ninth grade, there are English and computer science and, of course, everyone's favorite, freshmen P.E. As a sophomore fewer classes were required and they became more specialized. English and American History were a must for tenth graders. Books like The Yearling and Moby Dick help pass the time. Juniors and seniors had many more choices and were able to make class decisions according to their interests. HHS is helping students to prepare themselves for the future.

Excelling in Academics

Every year students apply for academic scholarships. This year many were in the running for some very important awards. Ben Alexander and Jim Knoble and Furman McDonald were National Merit semi-finalists. HHS's nominees for the Morehead Scholarships were Ben Alexander, Sydney Brown, Elizabeth Byrd, Jim Knoble, and Furman McDonald. Ben and Furman were selected as the Henderson County nominees. Furman became the district winner. These students exhibited admirable qualities of scholarship and leadership throughout their high school years. Excellence in academics at HHS really "adds up."

Hall of Fame

Report-card times does not always mark gloom. It is also the time when students are recognized for outstanding academic achievement.

Being 'inducted" takes more than making the best grades. It also deals with attitude and effort. The basic Hall of Famer usually has a positive attitude about his work, and he tries hard to come out at the top of his class.

Grades were averaged at the end of the first nine weeks, and the students were chosen for the '86-'87 HHS Hall of Fame. The outstanding students had the grades, attitudes, and effort to make it all add up.

A Winner

How fortunate HHS is to have many excellent teachers; among this group is one who is truly a winner! Tom E. Orr Hendersonville High School's teacher of the year, is a person who reaches out to help his students to achieve, to create, to perform. He has shared his knowledge of English, his love of the theatre, and his desire to teach with many individuals over the last twenty-five years at HHS. He has enriched the lives of those with whom he has come in contact.

Selection, nomination by a faculty committee and a vote of the entire staff, recognizes achievement in various areas of school life — the arts, academics, and athletics. The following seniors joined the ranks of all former members of Who's Who at HHS: Mindy Hodge, Sydney Brown, David Adams, Ron Hester, Elizabeth Byrd, Jennifer McKay, Brian Platz, Mark Hadley, Jim Knoble, Leslie Hendricks, Karen Lewis, Sam Gash, Clifton Etheridge, Jeff Shealy, Furman McDonald, and Ben Alexander.

Even though HHS was experiencing the time on task routine, the traditional, fun-filled assemblies still existed. The introduction of clubs and organizations in the school created enthusiasm about the upcoming year. The drama class produced its version of "Jeopardy" and took the student body back in time for a view of "The Life and Times of Tommy Wilson." Mr. Jody Barber and Mr. George Wilkins also came to share their aspects of the way Hendersonville was in the past century. Laughter rang throughout the auditorium as Doug Burkey performed mime.

Time Out: Behind the Scene

A whistle blew. A simultaneous reaction of spirited fans, peppy cheerleaders, and beating drums rang throughout the stadium. This burst of excitement signaled the start of a Friday night on Dietz Field.

Before any of this response took place, many people worked in different ways to make the season unforgettable. Players started practice in early fall, each working to fulfill a goal, becoming state champions. With the same ambition in mind, coaches dedicated themselves to the extra-hours of developing plays, determining positions of players, and reviewing films of opposing teams as well as viewing their own team. Then there were the people who ran the ticket booths, gates, and concession stands and who sold programs. These were the Catbackers, the National Honor Society, the Keywanettes, the Key Club, the TMH students and teachers. In leading chants, the cheerleaders encouraged the spirit of fans and players. The Marching band contributed by playing traditional fight songs such as "Roll Out the Barrel." This year there was a newcomer to the football scene — Super Bearcat. He could be found strutting along the sidelines, dancing with cheerleaders, or simply promoting spirit among students and other spectators.

Together, these organizations contributed to yet another successful year at HHS. They all added up to make the perfect Friday night on Dietz Field and a most memorable season for many.

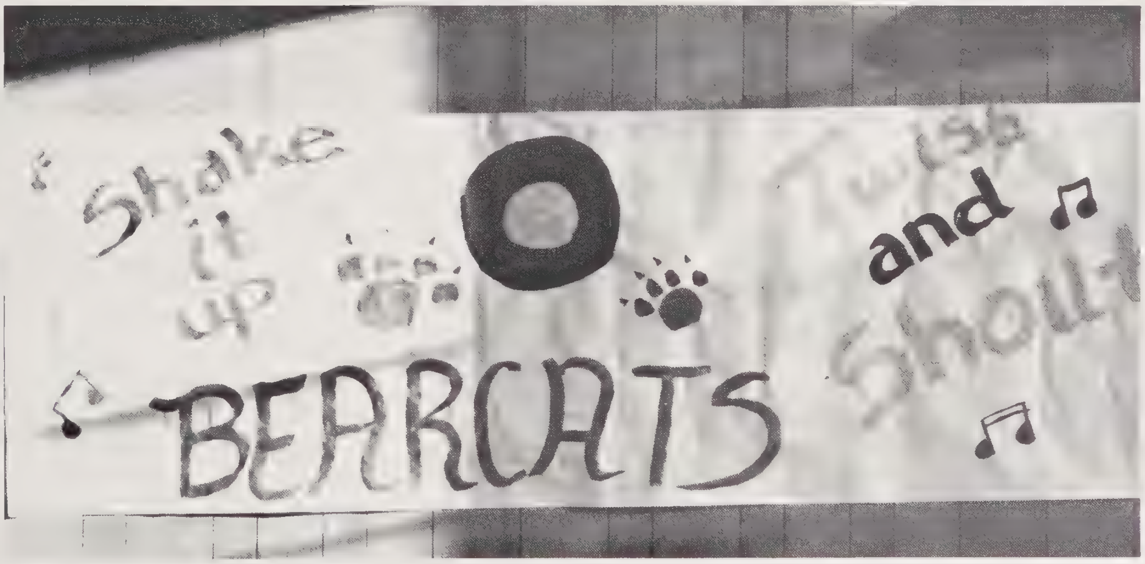
Meaning of Spirit

Tracy Lawson, Sarah Murdock, and Gina Norwood model the latest fashions of the Golden Age.

Spirit can be defined as having enthusiasm, courage, and loyalty. At HHS, students who have these qualities also have true intentions of proving their devotion to their school.

Spirit Week gave such students a chance to show just how faithful they were. Each day of the week was celebrated by designated activities. On Monday, one could find HHS students wearing ties and shades. Tuesday was "Lets-get-physical" day when students wore sweatsuits. Black was a popular color among the student body on Wednesday. Dark clothing and the black and orange armbands were worn as a symbol of "mourning" for the Rosman Tigers, upcoming rivals of the Bearcats. On Thursday, HHS went back in time. Students dressed as one did in the 1950's and 60's. Spirit Week is not complete until clothes of the traditional red and white colors are worn. This color scheme emerged on Friday, along with an array of painted paws on the faces, hands, or wrists of students. Each class decorated its appointed hall and submitted a banner in the "Breakthrough Contest." Under the themes of "Twist and Shout," the homecoming theme, and pro-Bearcat, the winning banner came from the Junior Class.

The students at HHS successfully proved that they had spirit. The highest number of points for participation during the week were given to the senior Class.



With penny loafers and rolled-up blue jeans, Andy Ross must be dressed for 50's day.

The cheerleaders lead the student body in a pep rally Friday before the Homecoming game.

Home '86

Coming

Homecoming is a time for alumni to return to their alma mater. This year, those returning found a change in the presentation of the homecoming queen and her court. The change was brought about by Laura Johnson, Chairman of Elections Committee. In the past, the procedure consisted of having three girls from each class appear on the field. Two were chosen to the court, while one from each level was left standing. This year, two representatives were chosen from each class, with three from the senior class. These girls were actually selected as members of the homecoming court. The senior girl receiving the largest number of votes from the entire student body was presented and crowned homecoming queen during the halftime of the game.

The homecoming representatives from the Freshmen Class were Tina Braswell and Judith Kirkman; the Sophomore Class, Jessica Laughter and Felicia Orr; the Junior Class, Sharon Branch and Melina Leibfried; Patti Falvo and Joan Murray were selected from the Senior Class. Miss Amy Yost accepted the title of the 1987 Homecoming Queen.

Making Friends

What is a friend? A friend is a person with whom one can dare to be himself. One does not have to be on guard when he is with a friend . . . he can express himself freely, as long as he is generally himself. A friend understands and is understood.

Making friends is one of the hardest accomplishments that a teenager faces during his high school years. With the peer pressure that students receive from so-called "friends," it is sometimes difficult for them to contend with the "justs" of reality. There are plenty of acquaintances in the world, but very few real friends.

"The better part of one's life consists of his friendships."

Miss Laureate 1987

Adding up to Success

Mindy Hodge, the leader who consistently took the initiative to see a job completed, earned the respect and friendship of students and teachers. She did her share — and she did it well — in achieving success for herself and for Hendersonville High School.

Miss Laureate is chosen by a committee of faculty members who have worked closely with the senior class. The committee selects a girl who has outstanding qualities of congeniality, academic achievement, school spirit, and service to the school.

Mindy — student, leader, friend — faithfully gave her time and abilities to help keep HHS successful through her leadership. She served as a Keywanette for three years as sophomore representative, vice-president, and president. For four consecutive years she held the office of class secretary and was a contributing and responsible member of student council. Her many talents allowed her to excel in the area of chorus. She was a member of chorus for four years and was selected to participate in the Mars Hill Honors' Chorus the past two years. Mindy was an active member in other school activities such as Spanish Club and student athletic trainer. In addition to all of these time-consuming activities, she maintained the grade point average to be an active member in the National Honor Society and did an outstanding job as Business Manager of the LAUREATE.

Mindy Hodge is highly qualified to be MISS LAUREATE — 1987.

Mindy Hodge

In Appreciation

Mrs. Copolillo demonstrates what it takes to succeed in her class—Brains!

Making a point during geometry class, Mrs. Copolillo describes parallelograms.

After nineteen years of teaching, Betsy Copolillo has left a mark on many students in a variety of classes. Now teaching geometry and latin, Mrs. Copolillo is often considered strict and demanding, as shown by her students' mastery of the word verbatum. Most students realize, though, that Mrs. Copolillo places her demands on students because she wants them to learn from her class.

Mrs. Copolillo is not all school work, though. She devotes much of her time to extracurricular activities. She is the sponsor of the Latin Club. Mrs. Copolillo also organizes the Quiz Bowl team, Academic Olympics, and the Student Council Scrapbook. She is always a class sponsor, and she worked basketball gates until recent back surgery forced her to stop.

The 1986-1987 Laureate is dedicated to Mrs. Betsy Copolillo because she is an outstanding educator who has and will continue to leave a mark not only on Hendersonville High School but on every student that steps into her classroom.

Members were responsible for running ticket booths at athletic events and tutoring students. ACADEMIC TENDENCIES

The French Club was successful in bringing French traditions and culture to its members. Club activities included attending French films and slide shows, as well as sampling French breads and cheeses. Mrs. Heidi Upton, the club's sponsor, helped members improve their knowledge of France by bringing the culture right to HHS.

This busy organization, sponsored by Mrs. Betsy Copolillo, participated in numerous projects and cultural events. Members became aware of Roman culture and speech through many Latin-related projects.

DOING IT LITERALLY

The staff of HHS's RED AND WHITE had another successful year publishing the school newspaper. Sponsor, Mrs. Beverly Russell did an excellent job in guiding the group. Eight informing issues of the RED AND WHITE were published throughout the school year. The RED AND WHITE staff clearly took their jobs literally!

The Literary Club gave members a chance to share their own prose, poetry, and artwork with others. Members also were busy publishing the school's own literary magazine, SOCKO. SOCKO consists of exceptional works by HHS students. Mrs. Beverly Russell, club sponsor, worked with members giving advice and guidance.

The 1986-87 LAUREATE staff had a busy year putting together the HHS yearbook. If staff members were not out selling ads, then they could be found drawing layouts and writing copy. Mrs. Alice Lawson, supervisor and sponsor of the LAUREATE, helped the staff meet deadlines and do everything—LITERALLY!

MAKING MUSIC

The HHS Band had an extremely successful year on and off the fields. The marhcing band could be found practicing their half-time show every day after school, preparing for the Friday night football games and also the Land of the Sky Marching Band Festival competition. All the practice paid off when the band won a superior rating for its tenth consecutive year at the festival, as well as winning a first place trophy for the exceptional flag corp. Directed by Mr. and Mrs. James Stokes and field conductor Sarah Murdock, the marching band had an exceptional year.

Musically speaking, the HHS Symphonic Band also had a commendable year. James Stokes conducted the band in a variety of music, with style and class. Concerts included the annual Brevard and Hendersonville concert in November and also the festive Christmas concert. All in all, the HHS Symphonic and Marching Bands used enthusiasm and effort in MAKING MUSIC!

ATHLETICS

Striving For Excellence

At Hendersonville High School our tradition is Excellence. This year's football team was no exception. The 1986-'87 Bearcats once again proved to be one of the stronger teams in the state. For a number of weeks the Bearcats stood atop the state class A rankings, while playing a non-conference schedule that included one Class 4A school and three class 3A schools.

The Bearcats began the season on a strong note, beating heavily favored county rival West Henderson 33-0. In the following three games the "Cats" defeated foes East Henderson, Asheville, and Mountain Heritage resoundingly. The fifth game lodged the top ranked 3A team Brevard against the top ranked Bearcats. Billed "The Game of the Century", it lived up to its expectations. It was a tough game and Brevard emerged the victor. After a loss to Owen, the Bearcats went on to defend their Appalachian Conference Crown. After going undefeated through conference, the "Cats" attempted to capture the state Class A crown but lost to eventual champion Murphy.

Excelling To The Top

The varsity football team is essentially two separate units, the offense and the defense. While on the field, both have different tasks and assignments they must complete. But as different as they might seem, they must still play as a team to succeed. The players must come together as one to support each other in order to win.

This philosophy also pertains to many other aspects of competition. Last year H.H.S. won the Wachovia Cup. This cup signifies the best athletic program in the state. With football and all the other sports coming together as a team the school excelled to the top.

Although the football team has never been extremely large, it has always excelled, this season not being an exception. One contributing factor this year was that there were sixteen lettermen. Their experience and leadership helped the team to achieve a record of 10-3. With many players returning for another year, the Bearcats should once again have a successful season.

Succeeding J.V.s

Although the HHS Junior Varsity football team lost some experienced players to the varsity program, they still had a very successful season. This year, with a record of 4 - 3 - 1, they managed to achieve third place in the Blue Ridge Conference.

The coaching staff consisting of Keith McDaris, Jim Laughter, and head coach Bobby Wilkins worked many hours to mold these J.V. players into hopeful varsity starters. Their hard work toward the J.V. team has certainly benefited the varsity team.

For the HHS varsity soccer team, their second year as a varsity sport was a great improvement over their first. This year the soccer team was 8-8 overall and was tied for second in their division with a 6-4 record.

The junior varsity team had an outstanding season this year with a 12-2 overall record. They completed their season by finishing in second place in the Blue Ridge Council Conference.

With seven JV players moving up to join the varsity squad, the soccer team should have a very successful season next year.

Holding Their Own

Although the swimming and cross country teams are not as well known as some other sports, they have proved to HHS that they can hold their own when it comes to competition.

This year the men's swim team did extremely well. They managed to accomplish one of their biggest victories ever by defeating powerhouse T.C. Roberson for the first time in history.

Although the girls' team was very small, only three swimmers, they were not discouraged and continued to excel in their meets.

The cross country team proved themselves by being undefeated in the county and in their conference. An even bigger feat was their second place rating in the state for I-A schools.

Two members on the team had individual accomplishments as well. Mark Hadley and David Schneeberger placed second and fifth respectively in the state meet.

The 'Cats started with Brevard and went thirteen games before dropping their first decision. They again captured the Henderson County Christmas Tournament title and once again completed an undefeated Appalachian A Conference season. The style of play is familiar to HHS, a fast breaking, small but quick type of team. The 'Cats often treat their fans to a myriad of dunks and a number of one-hundred-point games.

FAST BREAK

Hendersonville High School is very lucky to have a coach the caliber of Bobby Wilkins. In 1985-'86 he guided the Bearcats to a 25-3 mark that the '86-'87 Bearcats were well on their way to topping at the end of the season. The Bearcats were led by co-captains Marvin Featherstone and Scott King.

Winning A Title

The Lady Bearcats captured the Appalachian A regular season conference crown for the first time in their history. Led by Coach Jack Johnson and four year starter, point guard Cynthia Black, the Lady Bearcats went undefeated in conference play. SUCCESS

The Hendersonville High Junior Varsity Basketball team was once again very successful. Under the direction of second year coach Gary Rivers, the junior varsity compiled a record of 8-12 during the regular season. With this success came the Appalachian A conference crown and the top seed in the Appalachian Conference Tournament. The JV Bearcats were led by a trio of sophomores: Jeff Shipman, Karla Robinson, and Kelvin Young.

SHOUT!

The Hendersonville High School Varsity Cheerleaders once again did a fine job of arousing inter-school spirit. Their long hours of practicing, singing, and making runthroughs seldom went unrewarded because of their constant ability to keep the fans on their feet. Sponsor Linda Henderson was always coming up with new ideas for cheers. The cheerleaders' excitement was always contagious and electric.

Sets and Spikes

Although the Volleyball team did not possess the best record (9-12), they ended the season on a strong note, finishing second in the Appalachian Conference and earning a berth in the first round of the state playoffs. The Lady Bearcats were led by captains Lesley Apple, Cynthia Black, and Valarie Simpson. Cathy St. Claire was the rookie coach.

Training

Athletic training is a new group at Hendersonville High School. Started when Dwayne Durham came to HHS in 1986, the sports medicine staff has served the various sports at the school for the past year and a half. During the entire football season there was always a trainer at practice or at the game. During this season the trainers sacrificed valuable hours of sleep to come in for 7:00 A.M. treatments. During the winter months the student trainers advanced their knowledge of medicine by attending various classes and seminars. Throughout the past two years the training room has grown to include a high voltage muscle stimulator and various other rehabilitation devices.

Ken Cleary applies muscle stimulation to an injured athlete's leg.

Dwayne Durham scouts the bench as he helps an injured Hoyt Bynum off the field.

Going for It All

For this year's wrestling team, their dominance and success were obvious. While led by captains Boogie Hill and Chris Battista, it could be seen that they were going for it all.

The team's end record was an impressive one. It ended up with having 11 wins and only 3 losses. It capped off the season with a conference championship in which they won 11 of the 13 weight classes at that meet.

Some team members with outstanding records were Darrel Waters, 17-2; Bill Hodge, 17-4; Doc Nowakowski, 13-4; and Boogie Hill, 17-4.

Next year Coach Snyder should have most of his team returning hopefully to achieve the same success he had with this year's team.

Getting Into The Swing Of Things

This year HHS had a newcomer to the sports scene, girls tennis. This first year team was coached by a first year teacher, Mr. LaGrange.

Although it was hard to get into the swing of things, they managed to send four girls to Regionals. They were Paige Bristow, Amy Dewy, Amy Williams and Christa Waddell in doubles. Paige Bristow was able to advance to the first round of play at the state competition.

The boys tennis team was as strong as ever this year. They managed a 10-2 record and were undefeated in their conference. Coach Brown was able to send two of his top players to state; they were Troy Buyce and Tom Lafeber.

Joining this year's team were top prospects Tom Long and Ryan Kudva. They added to the abundance of talent, which included returning number one seed Shawn Johnson, who led the tennis team to a very successful season.

Springing Into Action

As spring time approaches and the leaves begin to reappear on the trees, the spring athletes can be seen outside practicing. They are out pounding the green grass with their cleats and running shoes shaping up for the upcoming season.

The expectations for all of these spring sports are high as they head enthusiastically toward a new season. Hopefully all of these teams will achieve their best and excel in whatever they face.

Making the Point

Throughout the past school year, Hendersonville High School excelled in all facets of athletics. From the first day of football to the last day of track, there were always Bearcats paying the price.

In the fall, football dominated the scene, and the team advanced all the way to the State quarter-finals. Soccer, volleyball, and women's tennis also had successful campaigns. Basketball led the winter sports, with wrestling and swimming also having outstanding campaigns. The spring sports once again dominated their areas.

Precision Tune®

CHECKS THAT HELP KEEP YOUR CAR STARTING.

CHECKS THAT HELP KEEP YOUR CAR RUNNING.

We will always replace:
- Spark Plugs
- Points (on standard ignition vehicles)
- Condenser (on standard ignition vehicles)

We will always inspect, and at no extra charge, replace if defective:
- Distributor cap and rotor cap
- Positive crankcase ventilation valve (PCV valve)
- Spark plub wires and boots (maximum of three)

CHECKS TO HELP KEEP YOUR CAR FROM STALLING (OR CHECKS TO MAINTAIN YOUR MAXIMUM M.P.G.)

PEP CHECK — IT COULD SAVE YOU LOTS OF MONEY DOWN THE ROAD.

We will diagnose your engine's carburetor, and adjust for proper idle speed and fuel mixture (except when factory sealed). Then, we'll adjust the timing and coordinate your engine under power at highway speeds. Should your car need repair that a tune-up will not take care of, we make a nominal charge for the diagnosis. This amount will be credited toward the tune-up if the necessary repairs are made and you return to the Precision Tune center which performed the diagnosis within 30 days.

* Guaranteed 6 months or 6000 miles — whichever comes first.

NOW THERE REALLY IS A DIFFERENCE IN REAL ESTATE COMPANIES.

SOLD
We're selling houses.

We're stronger because we joined ERA® Real Estate. For you that means innovations and services like these:

- ERA Sellers Security Plan™
  If we don't sell your home, we'll buy it.*
  Up to $100,000 equity advance before your present home sells.
- ERA Buyer Protection Plan
  Protection from major unexpected repair bills for buyers. Protection for sellers, too, while their home is still on the market.
- ERA Moving Machine® —
  A free, exclusive ERA service that transmits a photograph and description of your home to the 40% of home buyers who come looking from out of town. It can also help you preselect homes in another city without ever having to leave town.
- FREE Home Evaluation —
  Complete, no-obligation assessment of your home's real estate market value. Plus a projection of trends influencing your neighborhood.

When it comes time to sell your present home or buy a new one, remember the muscle of ERA Real Estate. We invite you to compare.

There really is a difference in real estate companies.

"The Sum of the Products"

1987 was a great year . . . one of the best. We accomplished so much in so short a time it was hard to believe it was over.

Tina Edgerton and Melina Leibfried take a break from cheering to smile at the camera.

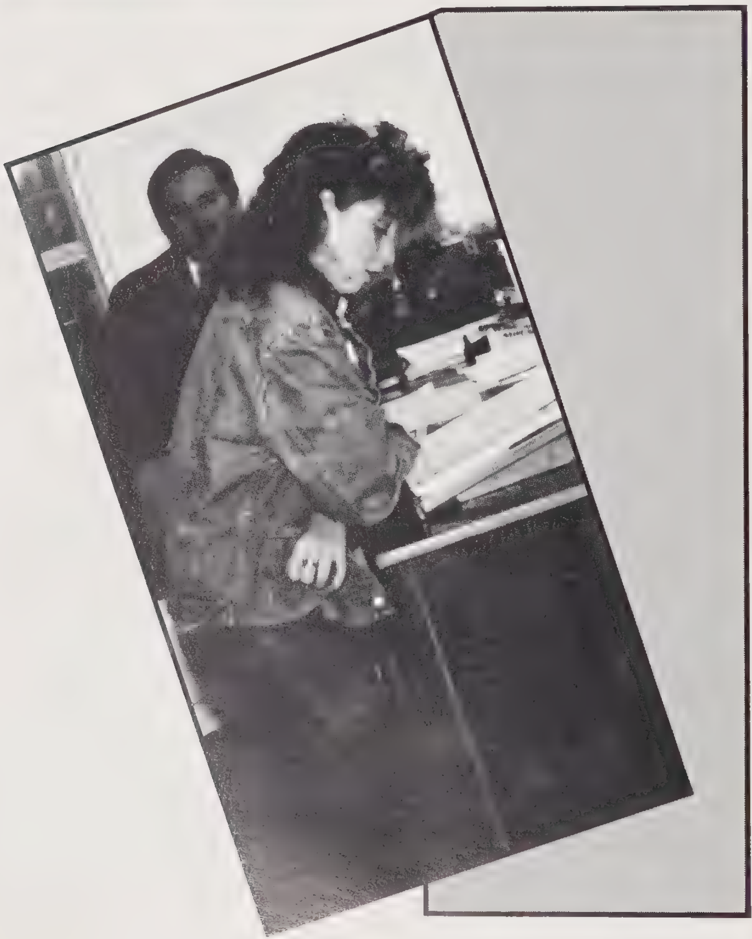
Matthew Gash lounges on a table in the treatment room.

Posing for a picture, the majorettes and drummers prove to be the best of friends.

Jennifer Pace smiles and glances over her shoulder during homeroom.

Darin Jennings takes time out to sit and reflect over his high school years.

"By Way of Excellence"



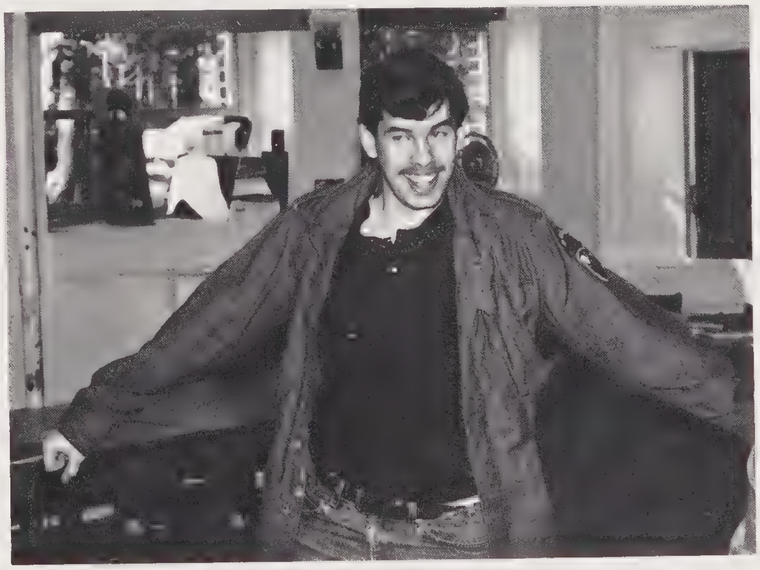
Whitney Brown grins before she takes a bite of watermelon.

Amy Baldwin takes role in class as Mr. Brackett looks on.

Bert Vanderveen smiles as he demonstrates how to load film into a camera.

The camera catches the better side of Monroe Twitty.

Kevin Kuhar, a senior at HHS, takes a moment to relax before going to his next class.

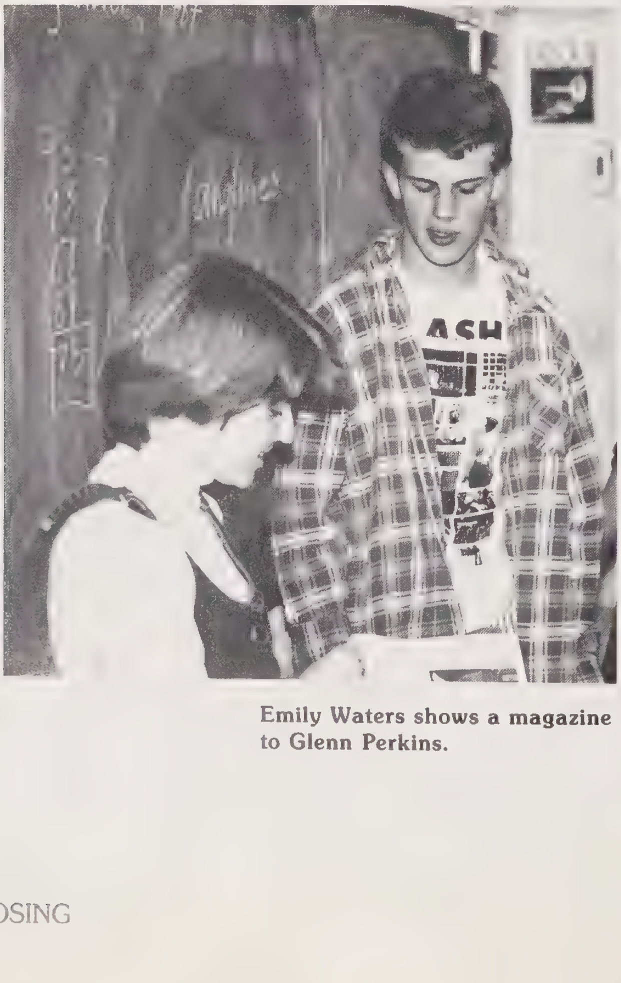


Leslie Hendricks gives an outstanding performance of "Lovers: Winners."

Charles Wells seems to be up to some kind of mischief.

"It All Adds Up"

We grew up together — Lived, laughed, loved and cried together — We went to our limits and then stretched them even farther to attain the excellence that built our reputation. In an atmosphere of enthusiasm, dedication, and hard work, we made our pride in Hendersonville High School all add up.



Emily Waters shows a magazine to Glenn Perkins.

Michelle Hendricks smiles over her shoulder as she leaves school for the day.

Robby Nolen makes a repair on a car during Auto class.
